Please read this form carefully before signing it.

Under no circumstances should you sign this form if you are in any doubt whatsoever about whether you have sufficient funds for your fees and living costs (e.g. costs of room rent utilities food, clothing research related costs, books transport entertainment etc.) You have sufficient funds for your fees and living costs (e.g. costs of room rent, utilities, food, clothing, re-search-related costs, books, transport, entertainment, etc.).

University and College fees:
Please note that University and College fees and other costs are set yearly and are subject to an annual increase, which are at least in line with inflation, and may be higher. At the present time, these increases are of the order of 5% per annum. If the course for which you have been made a conditional offer is longer than twelve months, your estimated costs in subsequent years of study will be higher than the amount given in your self-service account for the first year of your course. You should therefore ensure that you have available, in advance, adequate financial provision for the whole of the duration of your course (including any possible over-run). This provision should take into account the annual increases mentioned above. Home and EU fees quoted are an estimate only, and applicants should allow for a 5% fluctuation in the Home and EU fees quoted.

Maintenance rates:
The maintenance figure is an estimate of your basic living expenses and personal costs, including accommodation, food, books and travel (full-time students only). The figure quoted should be regarded as the absolute minimum you will require. If you are studying for a PhD, please be aware that if your course takes you longer than 3 years, the University cannot assist you with funding in your 4th year. You are strongly advised to allow for this possibility. In addition, some courses also require additional costs for consumables, field work or other research costs which you will need to make provision for as these will be in addition to the basic estimated living costs.

Currency Exchange rates:
If you are an overseas student, you should allow for fluctuations in currency exchange rates. Even if your course is not over twelve months in duration, if it will span two academic years (because, for example, you will be starting your course in January or April), your fee rate will not remain constant over the entire period of your course.

Supplementing your income:
You should note that it is not possible to take paid work while you are studying full-time at Cambridge, and you must not expect to provide additional income in this way. Further details can be found on our website: http://www.admin.cam.ac.uk/offices/gradstud/fees/funding/employment.html

Failure to provide accurate and honest information about your financial situation will be treated seriously by the University and/or your College. Under the Regulations of the University Composition Fee in Chapter I of the University’s Ordinances, students are required to pay fees for their course, as listed in the Table of Fees within that Chapter. In addition, under Regulation 10 of the General Regulations for Admission as a Graduate Student, the Board of Graduate Studies has the power to deprive any person of the status of Graduate Student if s/he has failed to pay the fees due from a Graduate Student. Furthermore, your College may decline to present you for conferment of a degree if you have outstanding debt to your College.
