

Election of Student members
Council of the School of the Biological Sciences

Student Representatives

The Council of the School of the Biological Sciences (CSBS) is responsible for the financial and strategic leadership of the School of the Biological Sciences. The School covers two Faculties; the Faculty of Biology and the Faculty of Clinical Veterinary Medicine, nine Departments (Biochemistry, Genetics Pathology, Pharmacology, Plant Sciences, Physiology, Development and Neuroscience, Psychology, Veterinary Medicine and Zoology) and five research Institutes (Botanic Gardens, Gurdon Institute, The Sainsbury Institute, The Stem Cell Institute and the MRC Toxicology unit). Current Membership is at: <https://www.bio.cam.ac.uk/csbs>

The CSBS Student Representative will maintain close links with Faculty Board Representatives, to assist in identifying important issues for the Council's attention and report policy and decisions to the student bodies affected. Over the course of their one year tenure the CSBS Reps are invited to the six meetings of the Council of the School to relay the student perspective on current issues. Standing for this election could allow you to influence decisions made by the CSBS, get experience sitting on a committee and get a better appreciation of how the University operates and how changes can be implemented.
